He's coming to IMT to do a combined performance and book reading, and we're excited to have him! He covered folk for the Boston Globe, contributed regularly to public radio, including seven years as correspondent for the national news show Here and Now, and wrote for many national magazines.

The Hot Seats

March 5, Monday - 7:30 PM, IMT Rockville

The Hot Seats play stringband music with simple intentions: to keep the role of traditional musician as entertainer and commentator alive and kicking. Their music is simultaneously hard to classify and instantly identifiable, combining the virtuosic soloing and tightness of bluegrass, the band-driven rhythm of old time, the jerky bounce of ragtime, and the swagger of good old rock and roll, with add some eastern melodies, a few modernist ideals, and an uncanny feel for comic timing.

Téada

March 14, Wednesday - 7:30 PM, IMT Takoma Park: Community Center

One of Irish traditional music's leading exponents, Téada is driven by a fascination for the timeless, expressive force of music inherited from previous generations of musicians. Téada, (which means "strings" in the Irish language) revels in the vibrant traditional music of Ireland. Deftly playing up its structural intricacies while preserving its contagious energy, the group strives to capture a sense of the rawness and individuality of the solo artist, within a modern group context.
